Sharon,
 Guess what?
 I bet your thinking
 what is he gonna write?
 Well I guess all start right at the end of the night even if we didn't have any class together, but it was my hope you get everything even if it's not me, because you deserve it.
 See ya next year
 Love ya,
 Rudy

Sharon,
 you're a real neat person and also a good friend. What am I going to do when you move?
 Well as we both know sometimes things
 just have to happen.
 But they take a pain killer kill. OK?
 Love ya,
 Robin Hudgens
 K.I.T 737-3345

Special.
 Love ya lots!
 the love ya lots!
 Seen a big change in you keep a big change in you move. I just hope you ya next year when you can't believe it's gone so fast!! I'm gonna miss you so much! I just want to see you again!
 Sharon,
 you are a very sweet and lovely person.
 I've been great for the last three years! I just can't believe it's gone so fast!! I'm gonna miss you so much! I just want to see you again!

P.S. I didn't get the time to finish because I would not allow it, but I know you that I wish you
 of luck!
 Don't anyone get anyone change. Love ya just the way you are!

There's a feeling good and true . . .

And it's from our hearts to you . . .

Hail
the gold and hail the blue . . .

To our colors always true . . .

And wherever we may roam . . .

We will always call it home . . .

To those people in the past who brought Arlington Heights to fame . . .

To those students, teachers, and administrators of today who are keeping the spirit of Heights alive . . .

To those yet to come who will take over in the future, accepting without question the traditions of the past and moving AHHS forward to the century mark . . .

To all those throughout the years who have realized that Heights is more . . .

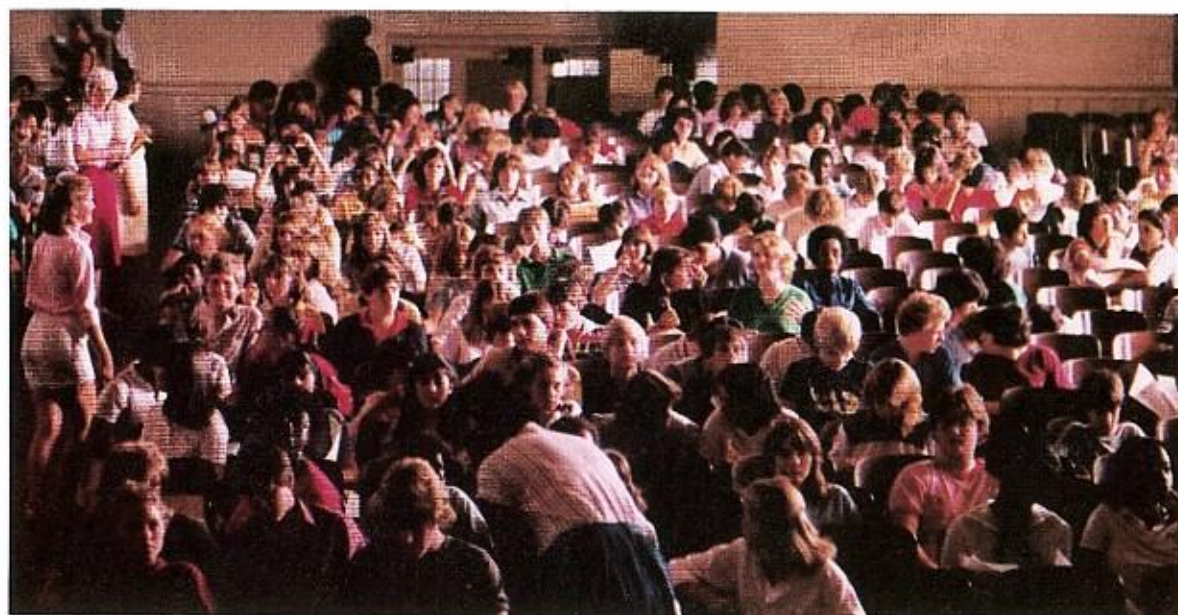

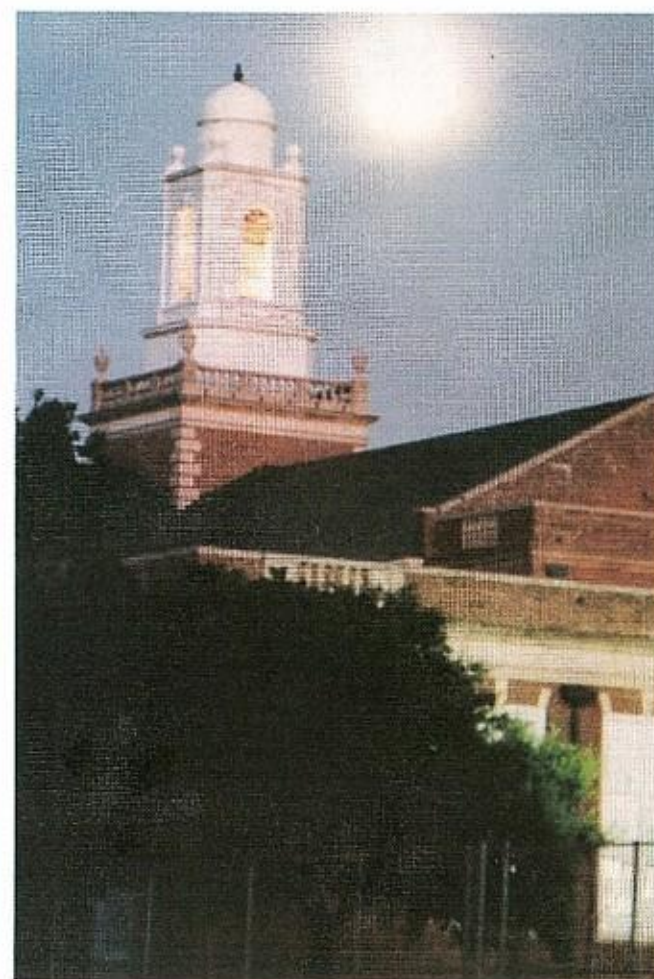

More than just a building with walls and doors and windows,

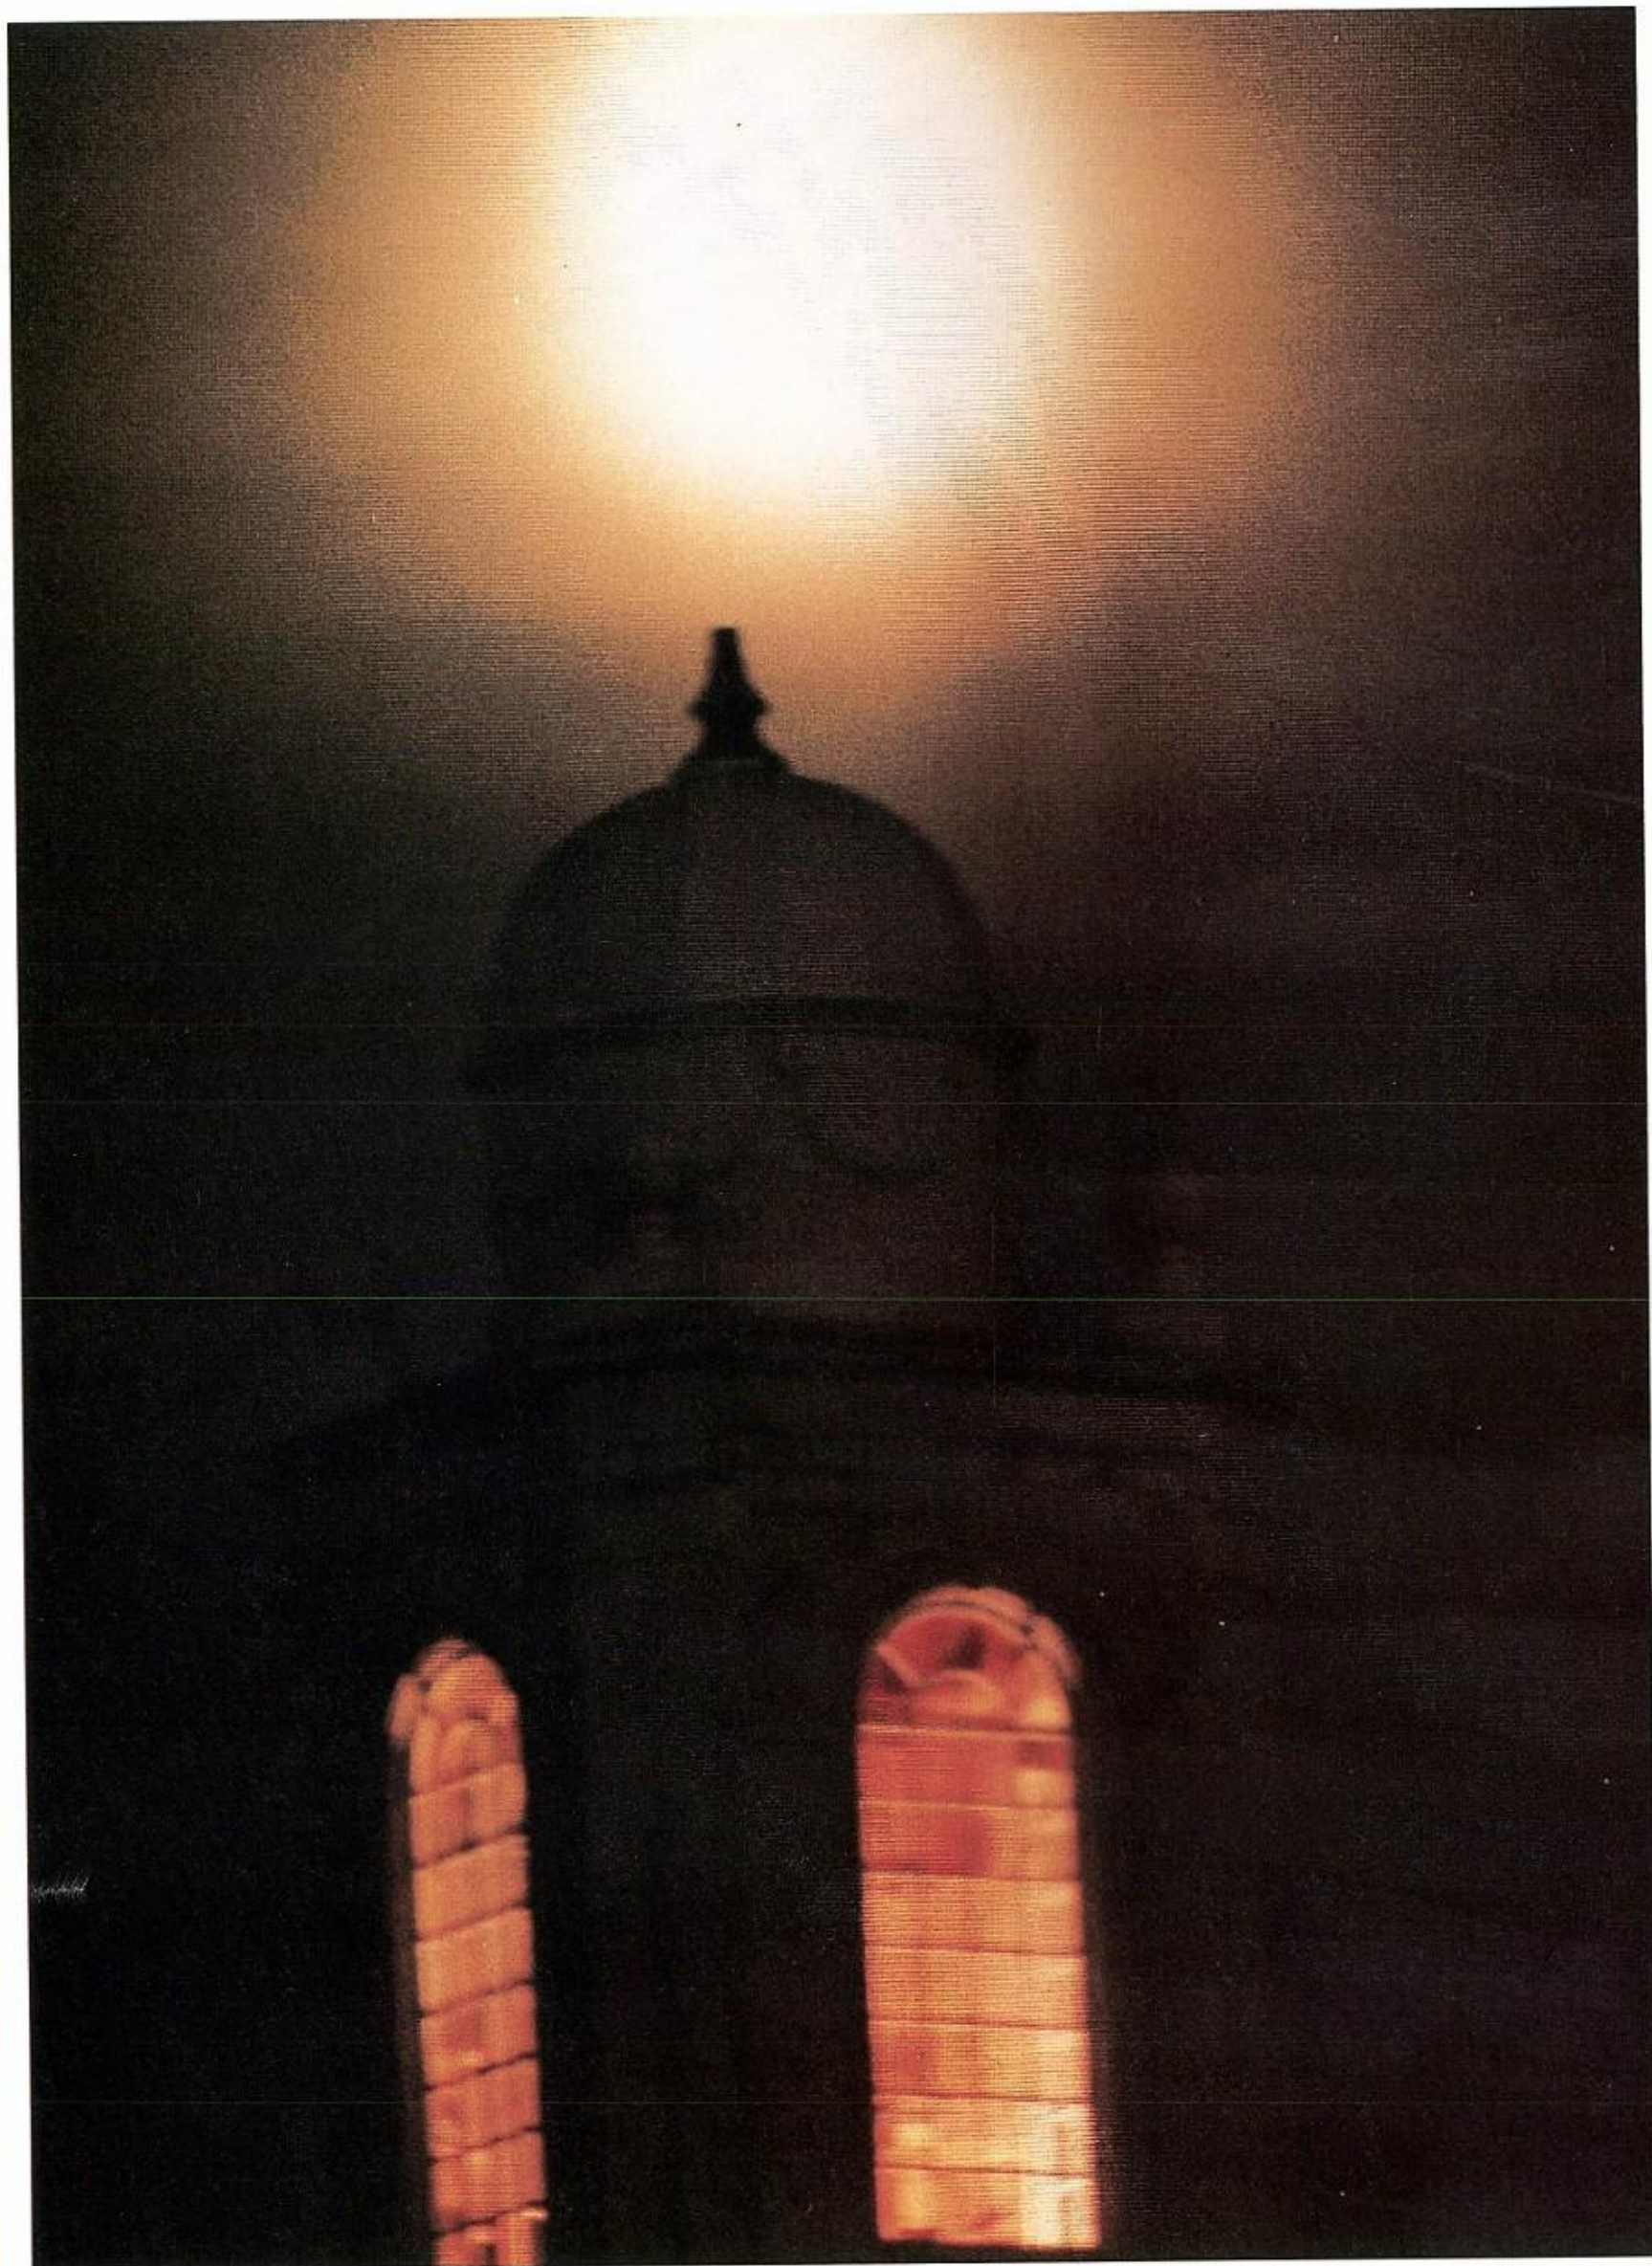

More than just parking lots and field houses and shacks,

More than classrooms, textbooks, and chalk,

But a state of mind, A feeling of pride, A unique quality associated with being a Heights student that involves the input of the parents the faculty the administrators and, most of all, the students To all these people who make Heights what it is —

We lovingly dedicate this yearbook.

PEOPLE

DENISE BOEHM: "The people at Heights are unique. There's something about them you can't find anywhere else."

JOHN CUMMINGS: "The unity and agreement over what school is the best makes the people at Heights special."

LESLIE MEEK: "I think that despite the social groups that people are divided into, all of us stick up for one another. That is pretty special."

New School Board Welcomes Second Century

Celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of the Fort Worth Independent School District, Superintendent Dr. I. Carl Candoli launched Fort Worth schools into its second century of education.

Special projects were arranged throughout the school year to help commemorate the centennial. The activities climaxed in March with a city wide birthday party. The final event occurred in May with a special week of activities for the graduating class of 1983.

Among other projects, the school district sponsored Distinguished Alumni awards, with former students of Fort Worth schools nominated for special recognition. This is to become an annual event.

'83 Student Council Leads Active School Year

Providing student leadership, creating and maintaining standards of good citizenship among students, promoting school activities, and providing a means of communication between students and administration were among the primary goals of the 1982-1983 Student Council.

Under the guidance of Bobby Lewellen, President; Denise Kirkley, Vice President; Courtney Hill, Secretary; and Susan Pattillo, Treasurer, the Council led a very productive year. With the aid of sponsors Larry Barnes and Jacquelyn Curry, the Council produced many activities.

The Student Council continued traditional events such as: Howdy Week, Elf Day, Cupid Day, and Spring Fever Week. In addition, the Council introduced a Christmas Dance. The Student Council also decorated the patio during Homecoming. Shady Oaks Country Club was chosen as the location for the Homecoming Dance by the Council.

P.R. and Programs Committees Promote Spirit

This year's Public Relations Committee, under the leadership of Vicki England, was responsible for the advertisements to promote Student Council activities. The committee played a vital role in determining the success of these events. To make activities well-known to the students, the committee devised original announcements, creative signs, and posters.

Led by chairperson Gayle Herr, the Programs Committee organized the freshman Howdy Week program, which included skits from the various organizations on campus. Several of their duties included selling refreshments at dances, preparing the library for Council meetings and designing the Elf and Cupid Grams.

Handbook and Elections Give Time and Skill

Under the direction of Lou Murrin, the Handbook Committee once again began the yearly task of typing and alphabetizing in order to produce the all-important student directory. Hours of planning and work went into this useful little book. In addition to the directory, the Handbook Committee was also responsible for meeting agendas and monthly calendars.

Many elections that successfully took place on the Hill were attributed to the hard work of the Elections Committee, headed by Marion Brumley. The committee took nominations, supervised voting, and then tabulated the results. This year the Elections Committee handled elections for Howdy Queen and King, Homecoming Queen, class officers, and Student Council. They also supervised Spirit of the Hill and cheerleader elections.

Leading the class of '83 through its final year at Heights, the Senior Steering Committee did a masterful job of planning and arranging the vast network of senior activities.

One of the main activities planned by the committee was the enormously successful luau, which was held in January. The proceeds helped pay for the cost of the senior prom.

The senior class held their prom at the newly remodeled Petroleum Club Friday, May 13.

Baker Edits Fiftieth Volume Yellow Jacket

Hours after beginning the new school year, the Yellow Jacket staff, led by editor Renee Baker, was hard at work on the 1983 Yellow Jacket.

Under the direction of Mr. Larry Barnes, sponsor, the new and returning staffers learned the techniques of producing a yearbook.

"We tried to emphasize the correct way of doing things," said Renee. "This is the fiftieth volume, and I wanted it to be the best."

Many special pages were added and great care was taken selecting the theme and dedication because it is the fiftieth volume. The theme was expanded to six closing pages in the back of the book, and a written and pictorial history were included.

Three basic deadlines were set up in December, January, and February. All completed pages had to be at Taylor Publishing Company by Feb. 11 to have a spring delivery book.

A new leadership system was tried this year on an experimental basis. Instead of making the editor responsible for every little detail, section heads were named to ensure production of their assigned pages ran smoothly.

Section heads for this year were Mike Alread, Sports; Cathy Craft, People; Bobby Lewellen, Student Life; and Pam Mooney, Organizations.

The section heads were responsible for assigning pages to staff members, assisting staffers with problems, checking pages for errors, and re-doing any mistakes.

"I think the system worked relatively well considering it was the first year for it," said Renee. "The main objective was accomplished, we finished the yearbook on time."

Howdy Week Opens Door to a New Year on Hill

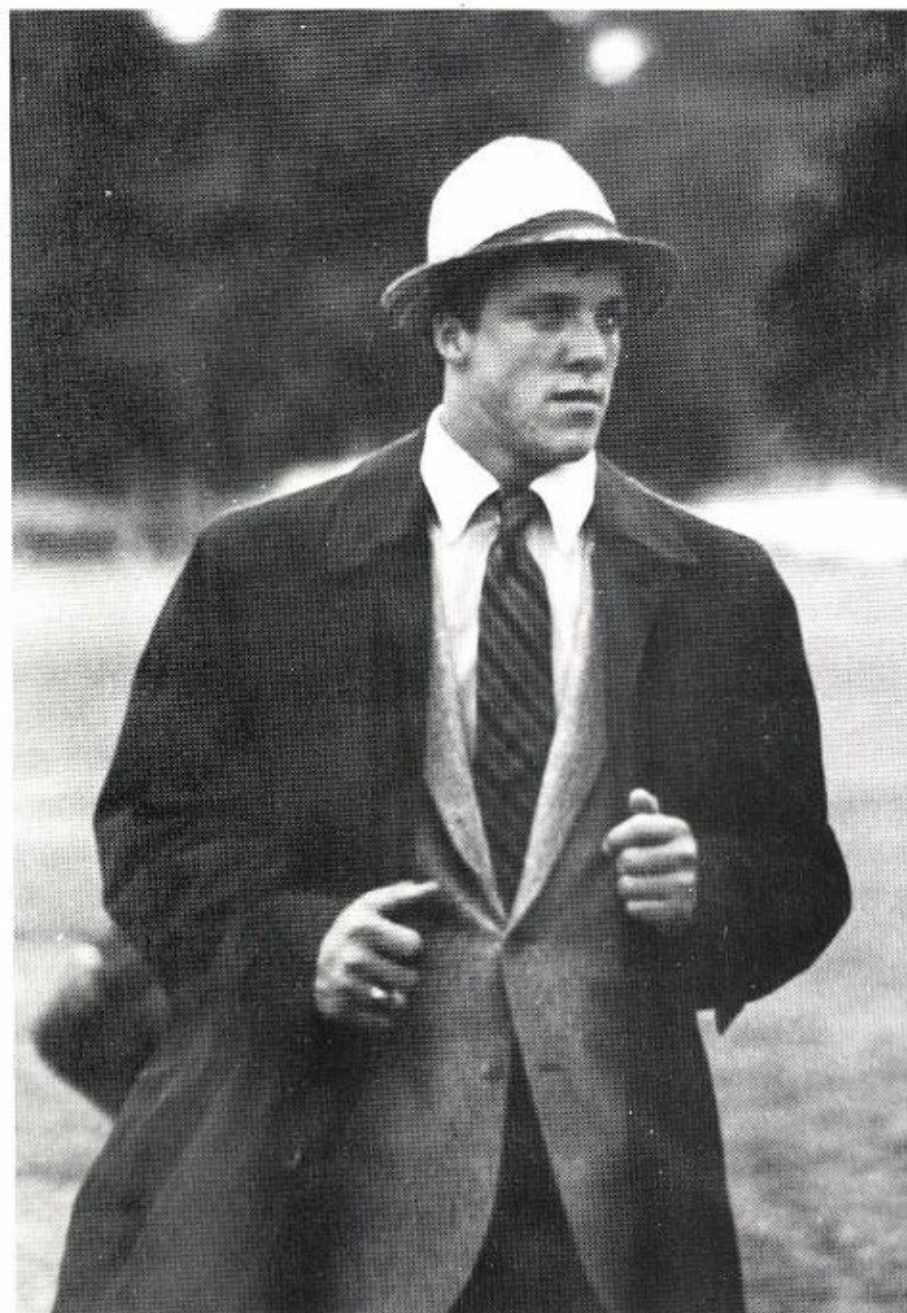

Howdy Week proved to be a great success once again for students on the Hill. All week long activities were planned for Heights student body.

The week kicked off with rollerskating at the Silver Wheel and the Young Life. Powder-Puff football, Safari-Day, and the announcement of Howdy King and Queen at the school's pep-rally led the events through Friday afternoon. The big game and dance, which was held on the campus patio, ended the week's festivities.

This week was a time in which the freshmen were exposed and introduced to the kinds of activities that are provided in the Heights school year and in the future years.

Yellow Jacket Spirit Shines on the Hill

Pep rallies, spirit posters, and great half-time performances helped drive the Jacket teams through an exciting season.

The sign-filled auditorium provided a great place for all classes to fire up the football team and vie for the spirit cup. The senior class, with the Purple dot as their symbol, won the Spirit Cup for the entire year.

The cheerleaders provided us with their award-winning performances, and the Jacket Jazz danced its way into the hearts of Heightsters again. The Spirit of the Hill provided that extra push to make 1982-83 another enthusiastic year on The Hill.

Heightsters' Spirit Shines at '82 Homecoming

Homecoming '82 began early on Friday morning with the continuation of what has become a tradition on the Hill: decorating the patio.

Each class was assigned a season to correlate with the theme of the '82 Homecoming theme "Four Seasons on the Hill."

The senior class was assigned the summer season; the decorations consisted of a replica of a beach with a WHHS cougar being roasted. The junior class represented winter by making posters which depicted skiers on a snow-covered mountain. The sophomores had fall represented by a cougar in a cage. The winning freshmen constructed a float depicting spring by growing a garden of cougars with the sing "plant the courgas."

During the pep rally that followed, the senior girls performed a dance and the Student Council sponsored a slide show. Also the Homecoming Queen and Homecoming Court were announced.

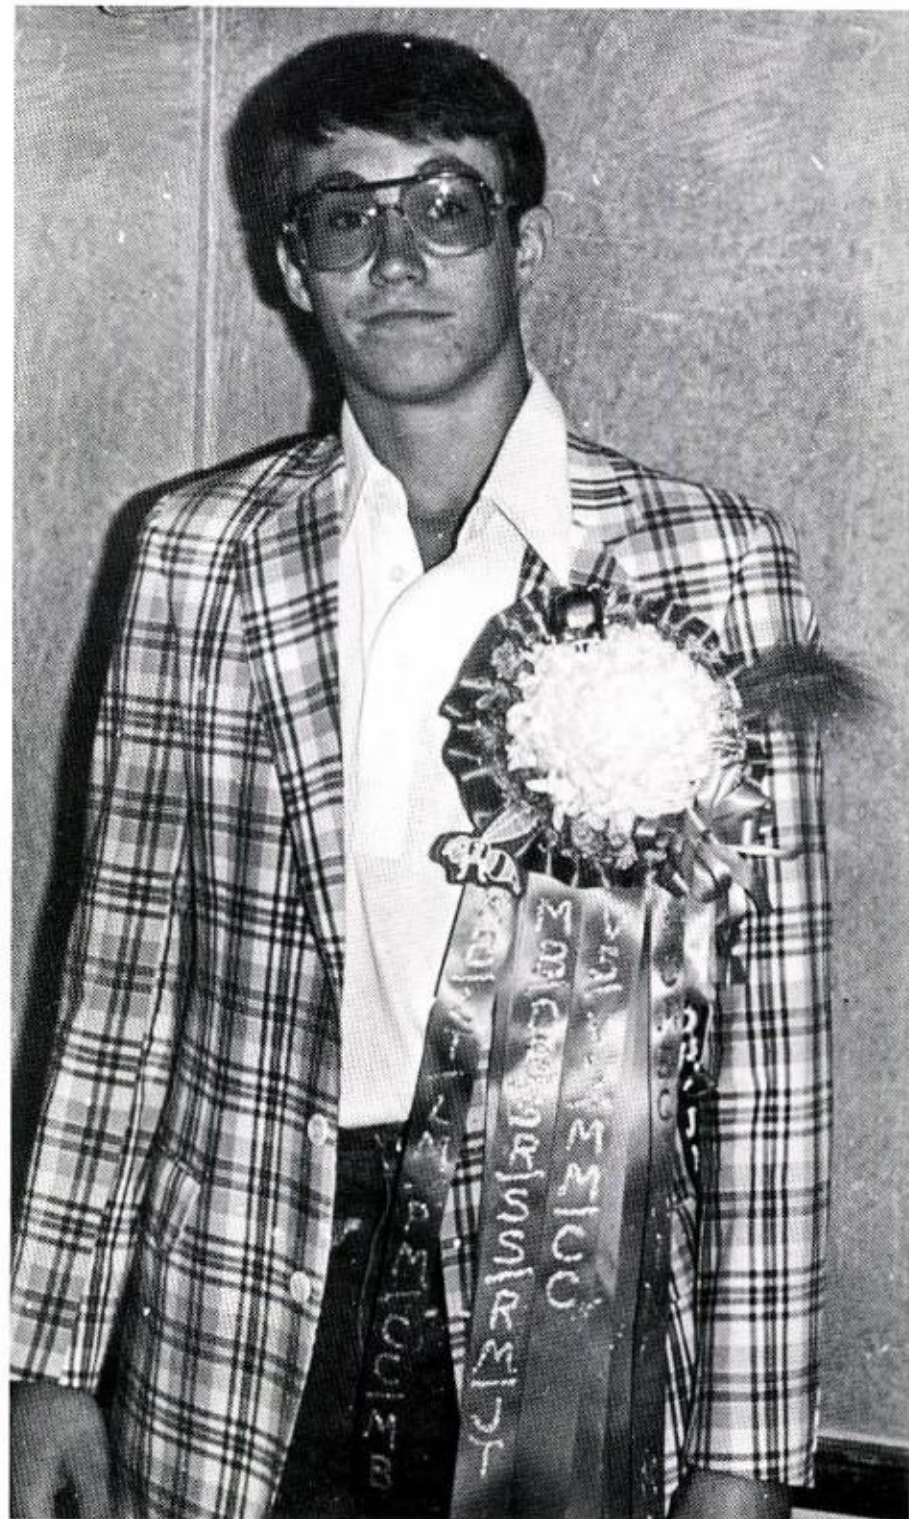

The '82 Homecoming Queen was Marion Brumley. She was elected by the student body from a Homecoming Court of eleven girls. The members of the '82 Homecoming Court were Renee Baker, DeDe Ellis, Kristy Fatheree, Gayle Herr, Sydney Maag, Cathleen Milligen, Blake Pearce, Leslie Robertson, Bridget Schafrick, and Diane Woodard.

After the Jackets dropped a heart-breaking game to the Wester Hills Cougars 38-14, the Homecoming celebration proceeded to the Shady Oaks Country Club and danced to the sound of "Striker."

This year's production showcased Kristen Gardner in the lead role as Dolly Levi, who makes up her mind to marry a wealthy merchant, Mr. Horace Vandergelder, played by Ben King. The play is built around Dolly's accomplishment of this by matching Vandergelder's intended, Irene Molloy, with his chief clerk, Cornelius Hackl played by Laurie Russell and Sean Matthews. Dolly's other main concern is reuniting Vandergelder's niece, Ermenegarde, with her true love Ambrose Kemper, played by Patty Worrell, and Kurt Daniels and Robbie Reel respectively. Dance Kicks Off Yule Tide Cheer on the Hill

Christmas was a time in which many school organizations helped to spread Yuletide cheer. The Student Council sold elf grams. They dressed up as Elves and invaded classrooms to deliver elf grams, elf grams with candy, or elf grams with candy and a friendly kiss.

In 1982, Heights began a new tradition by having a Christmas Dance in the old gym, sponsored by the Student Council.

The Band held a special concert in the auditorium for the Band Booster Club and played many old Christmas favorites. Among them were "Have Yourself A Merry little Christmas," "Chestnuts Roasting On An Open Fire," and "American Christmas Festival."

Krissy Pedigo turns away as she and Houston Morford dance the night away.

"Jamming" Julie Jennings and "crazy" Ann Creager enjoy themselves at the dance.

Karen Fox holds Jason Rynd at the Christmas Dance.

Laura Massey, Denise Boehm, Gayle Herr, Kristy Boyd, and Kristy Fatheree deliver Elf Grams on the Hill.

Kristy Boyd reads the Jacket Journal on Elf Day.

Shawn Smith asks whether or not he should shave his moustache and eyebrows.

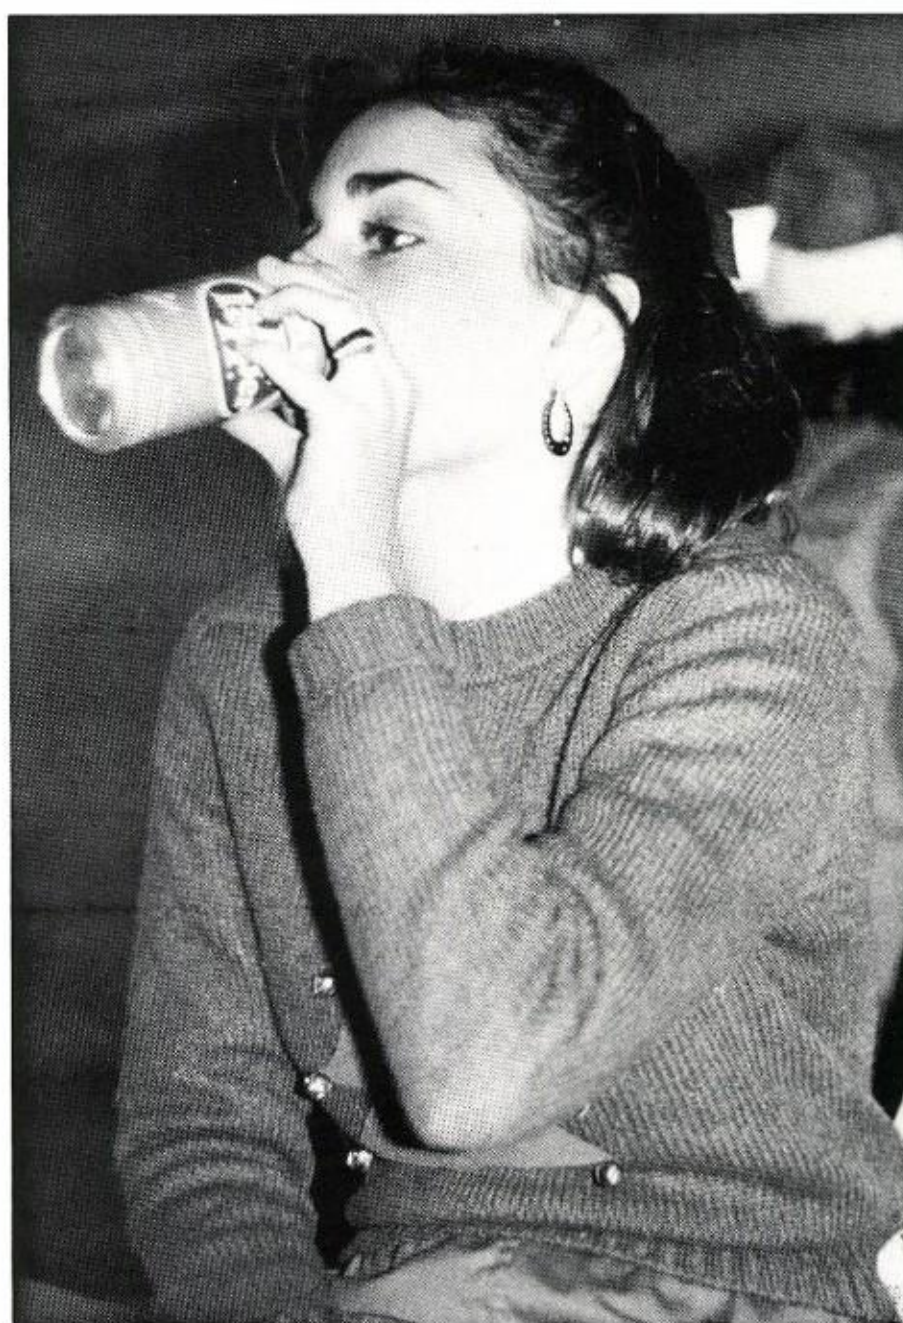

Denise Boehm and Kristy Fatheree muse over a thoughtful Christmas wish among the many Elf grams.

Santa's helpers are caught relaxing at the end of another hectic Elf Day.

Yolanda Green starts her Christmas Holidays with a friendly elf gram.

Kristy Fatheree creates an echo-effect by screaming her elf-gram into an empty Dr. Pepper can.

Seniors '83 Bring Hawaiian Luau to the Hill

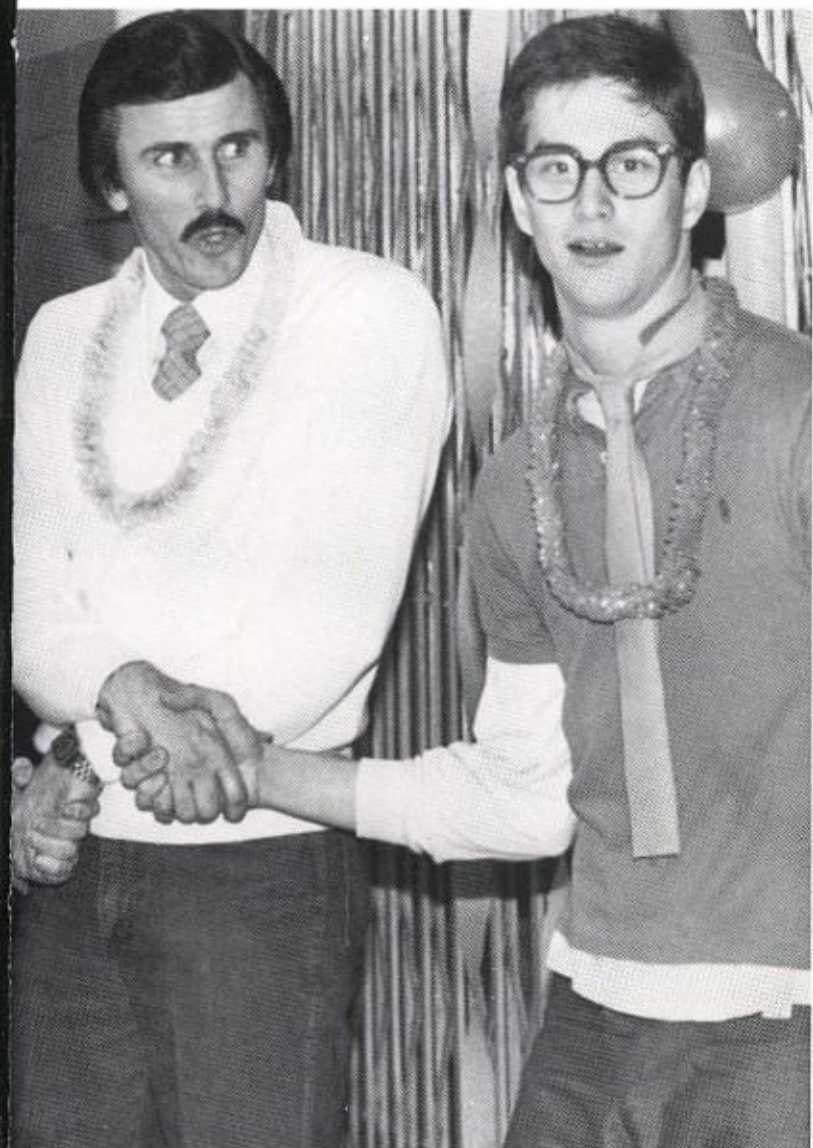

The Penguins attracted a near record-breaking crowd at this year's Luau sponsored by the senior class. Heightsters came arrayed in a various assortment of Hawaiian garb. These costumed students received free leis at the front door. Dancers exhausted from their hula efforts were afforded rest under the shade of lush palm trees provided by a local business. Senior Steering committee members see this year's luau as the continuation of a great precedent set by last year's senior class.

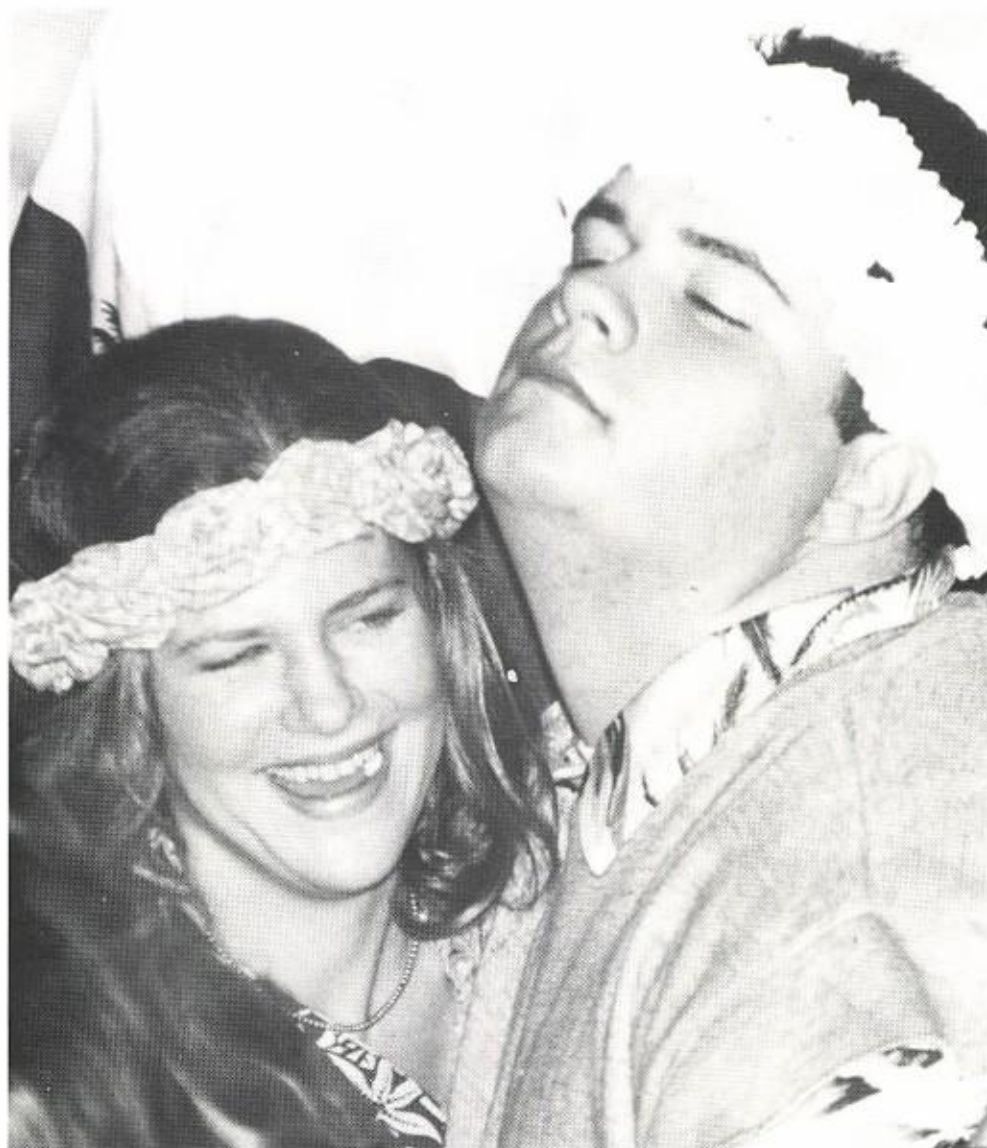

Mr. Greer and Mrs. Szot dance to the memory of luaus gone by.

"Luau, luau, oh we gotta go now," croons Penguin singer.

"And what's your name little boy?" Dr. Peterson asks of confused Brett Keeton.

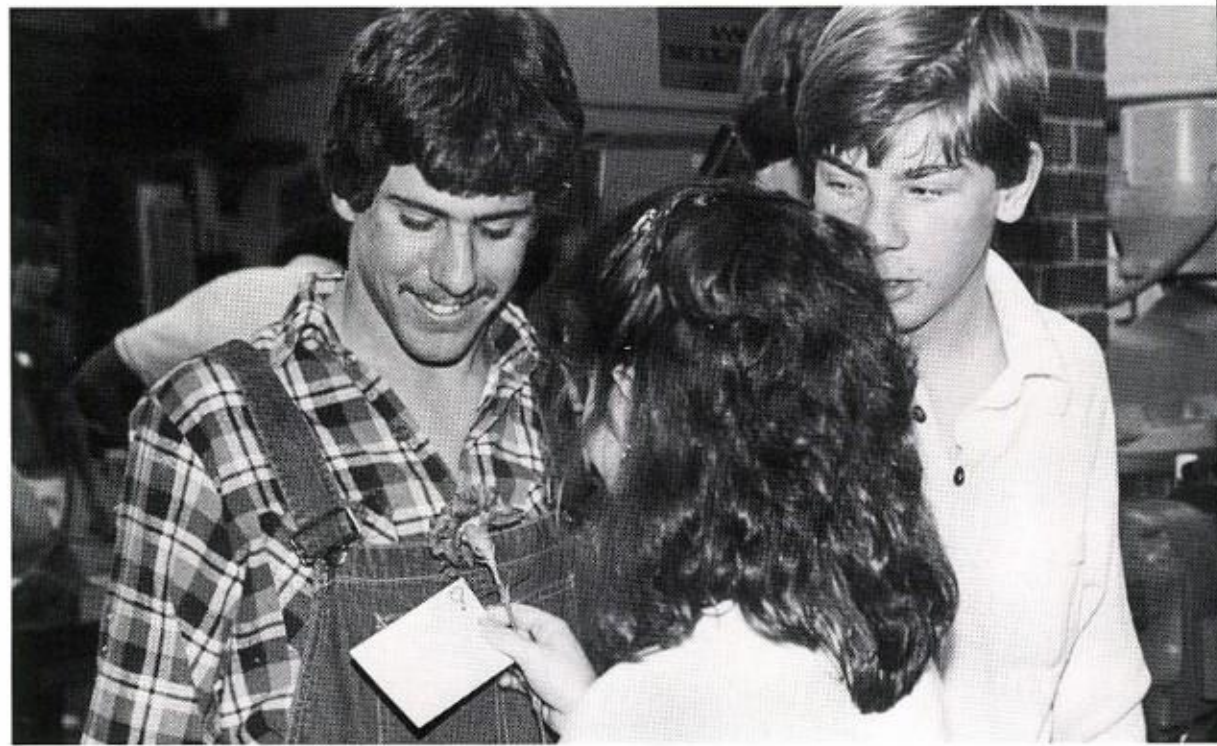

"It's past my bedtime," says a sleepy Rob Cowan as Lou Murrin tries to support him.

"It sure is bright in here," screams Kevin Pedigo, wearing his expensive Vuarnet sunglasses.

Cupid Strikes Heights With Bow and Arrows

The Student Council helped brighten a bleak winter again this year by delivering cupidgrams on February eleventh. Many cupids, alias Student Council members, dressed up in outfits of Red and White to deliver white carnations with messages of love and friendship attached. These greetings were swiftly carried by the cupids from headquarters in the main hall to the classrooms of unsuspecting recipients. After checking to see that the job was well done, Cupid left Heights with happy memories of the day.

Ron Short is taken by surprise as Gayle Herr delivers a message of love.

Linda Bridgewater smiles as she receives a valentine greeting.

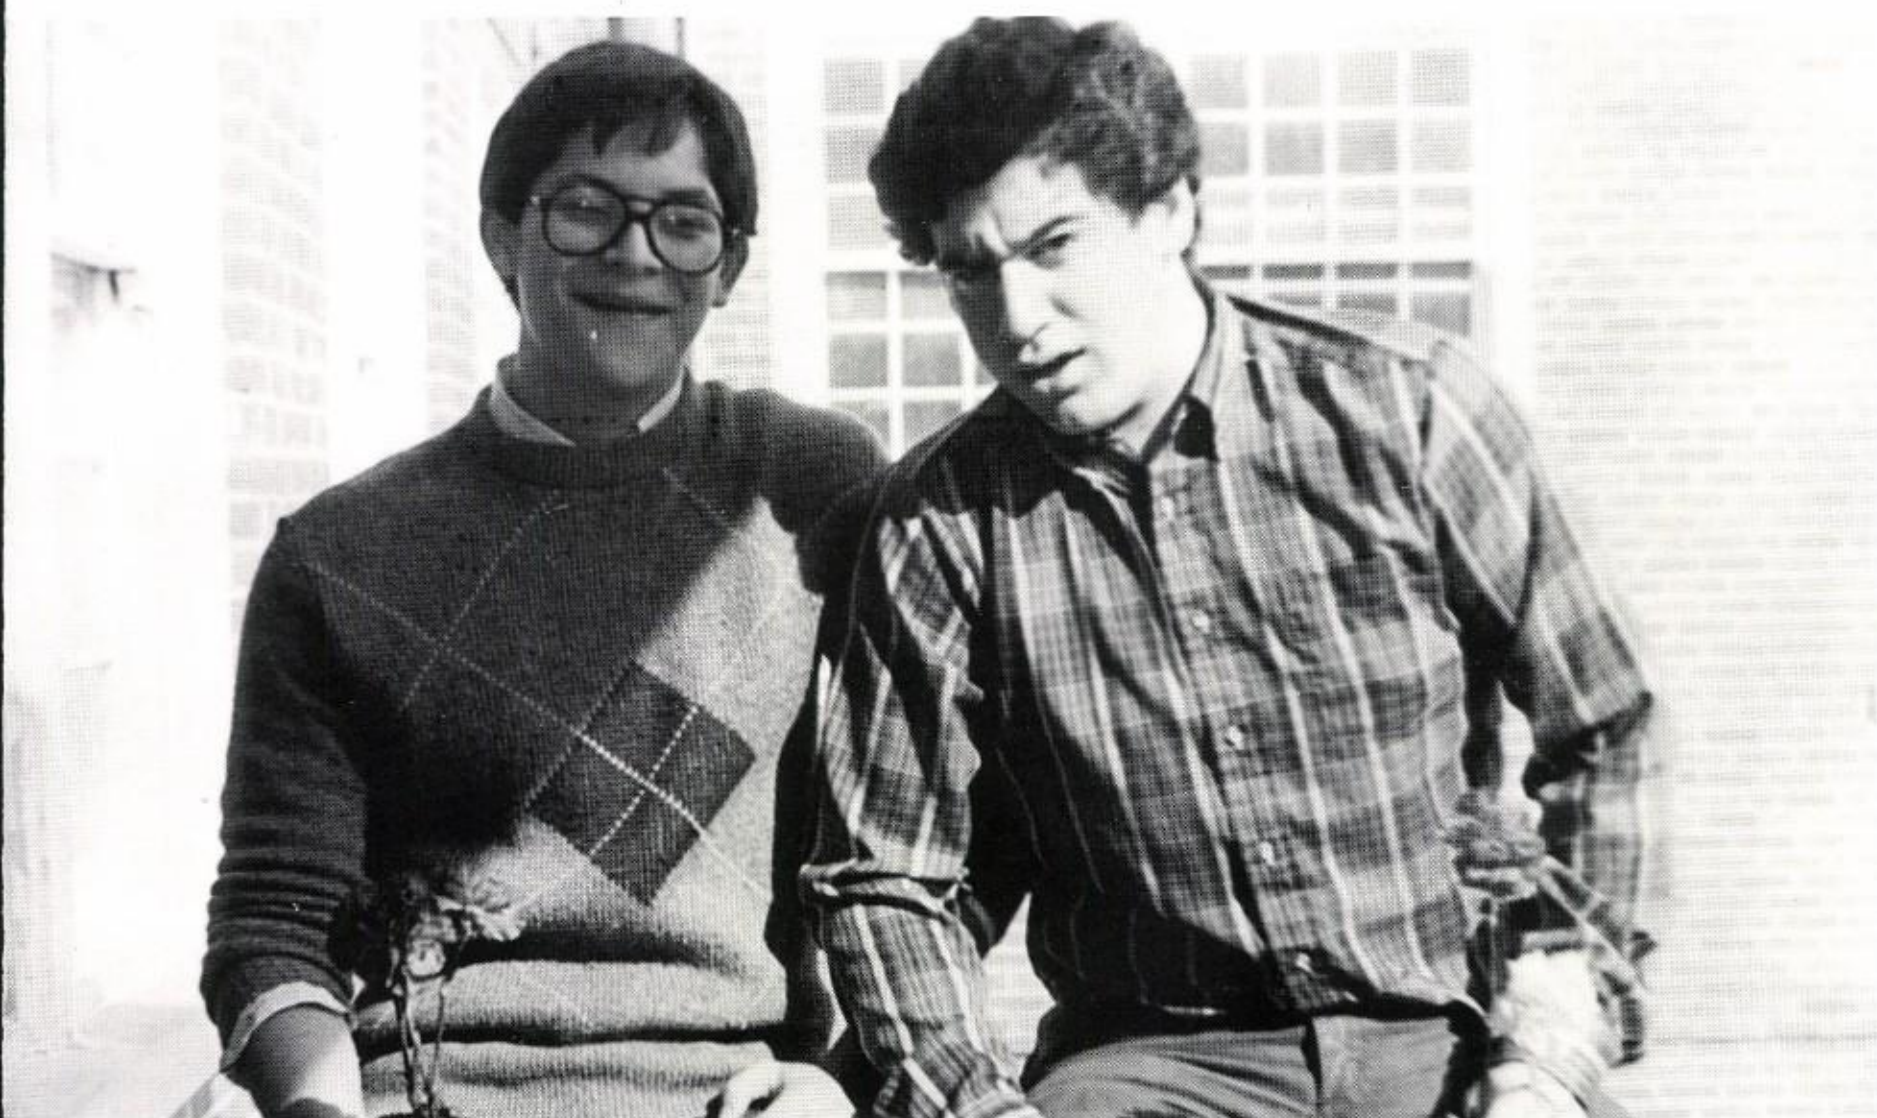

Cupids Dorinda Branch and Lisa Triplett stop to smell the flowers before they deliver their next Cupidgram.

"Are my wings on straight?" questions a worried Jill Witcher.

Shawn Smith is caught dreaming of a tropical vacation.

"Red carnations mean what?" questions a confused Buddy Willy of a contented Vic Ruiz on Cupid Day.

SPORTS

STEVE GAUNTT: "Sports are very good for discipline. It is a large responsibility which requires 100% effort and athletic ability."

BRAD HELMER: "Sports add life and fun to a student's school day."

CORRIE HILL: "Sports give me something besides academics to strive for and something to give me persistence and pride for my school. It gives me a feeling deep down inside that I'm part of what I yell for."

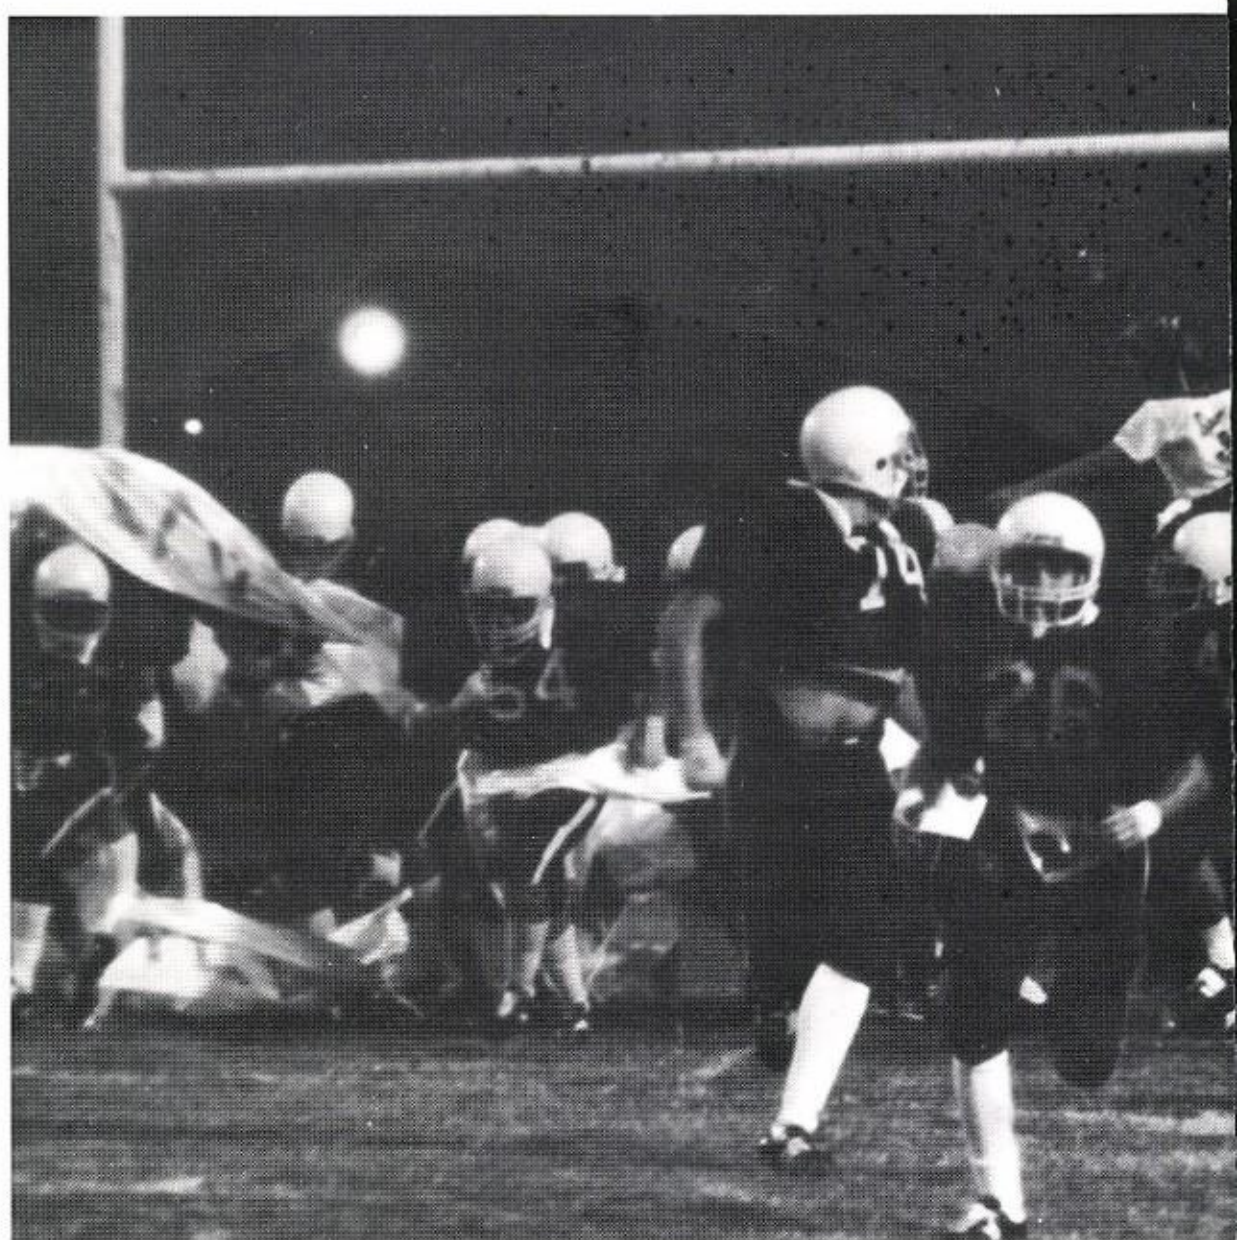

Varsity Football Team Has an Adequate Season

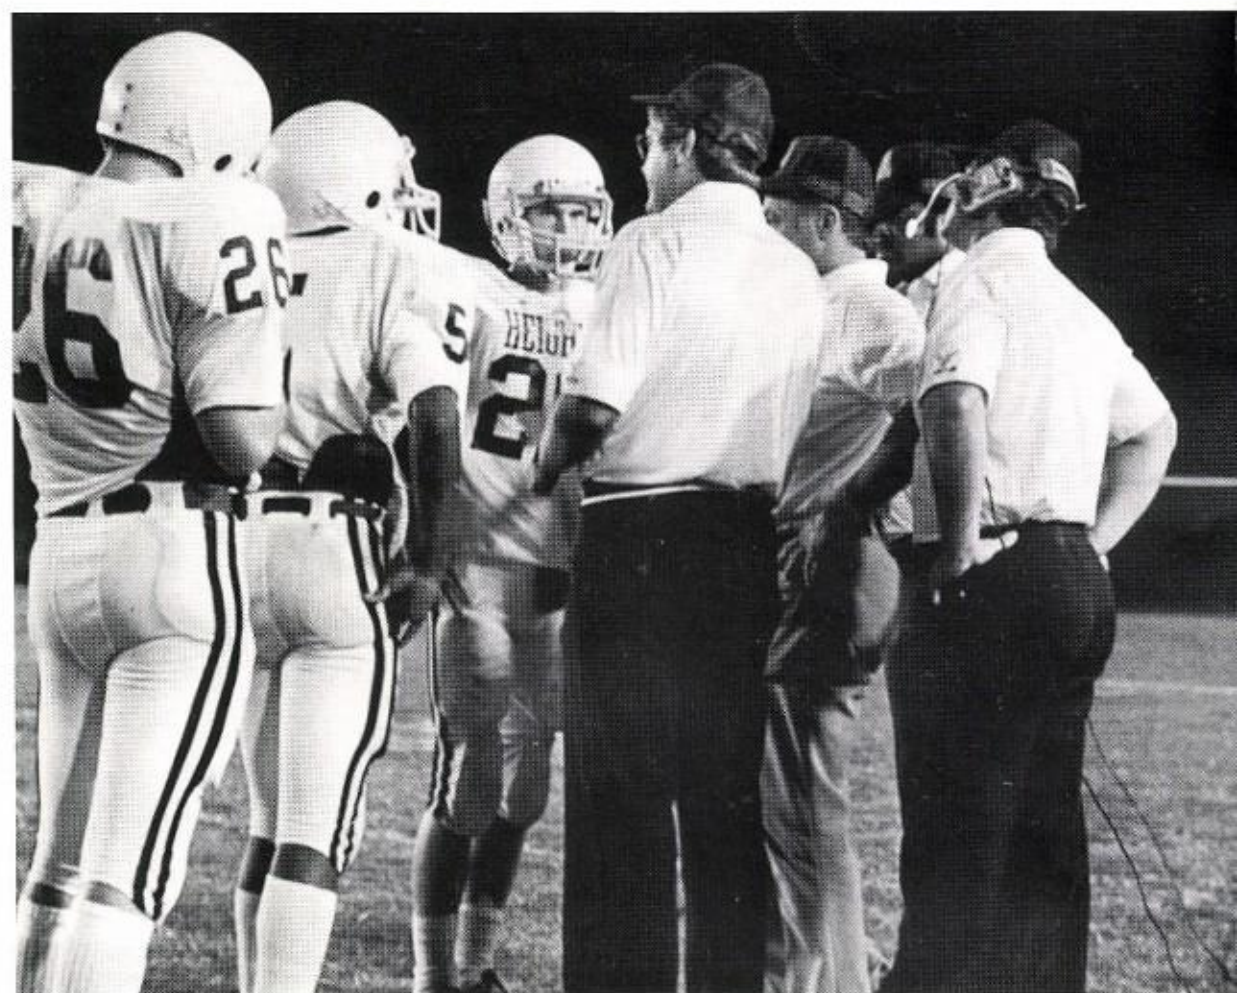

The Yellowjackets started their season off well with a tie, a win, and a loss. The first pre-season game was with Mineral Wells, in which the Jackets came back from a 28-7 deficit in the fourth quarter to tie the game. Against South Grand Prairie the Yellow Jackets offense perked up to score 29 points and beat Grand Prairie 29-22. The third game the Yellow Jackets had two early turnovers that allowed Dallas Kimble to win 21-7.

District began for the Jackets against Eastern Hills in which they were handed their first district loss 34-15. The Tech game was an exciting one. Tim Mauser, a sophomore, passed to Gary Welles for a TD which came up one point short; Heights losing 21-20. The Southwest game was tough. Edning a hard-fought 20-20 tie. Homecoming was a let down with a loss to Western Hills 38-14. Next week the team had a good game against Wyatt winning 23-14. In the sixth game, the team lost a tough defensive battle to Dunbar 8-0. The last game was the best: down 14-13 late in the game, Tim Mauser marched the Jackets down the field and threw to Gary Wells for the winning touchdown. Then the defense held on to win 19-14.

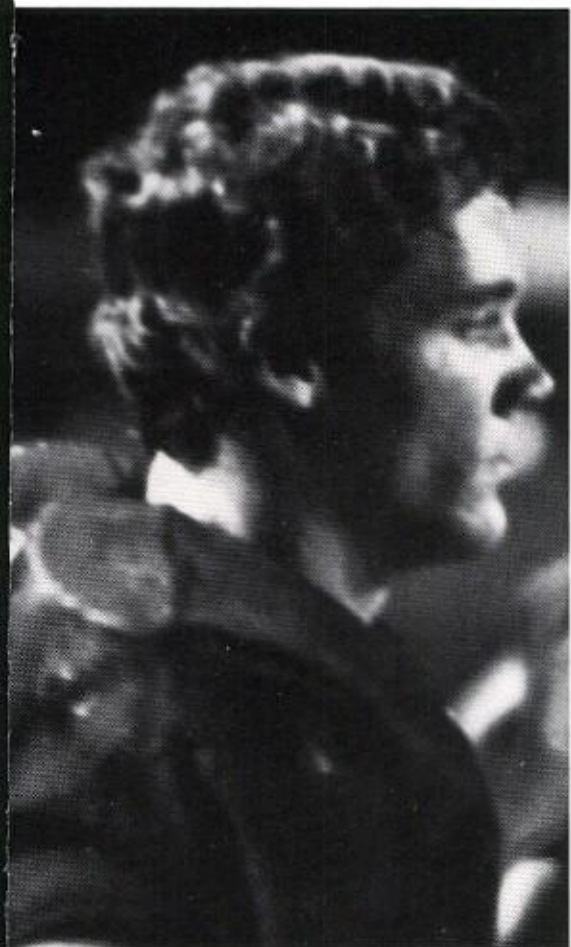

Though the Jackets suffered a slightly disappointing season, the Varsity squad had a number of players make the All District List. Offensively they were; First team: Gary Wells; Second Team — Buddy Willy, Tim Mauser; Honorable Mentions: Tim Mauser, Junior Smith, David Atkins. Defensively: First Team — Brad Baker, Second Team — Mark Mauser, Houston Morford, Doug Franke; Honorable Mentions: David Atkins, Sophomore of the Year Award — Tim Mauser.

The Yellow Jacket squad forecasts their win against the Chapparals of O. D. Wyatt.

Is the J.V. Predicting Next Year's Season?

Bringing victory after victory to the Hill, the Junior Varsity Football team ended this year with a 5-3-1 record. Producing an exceptional season, the second year Jackets were hopefully giving Heights a preview of next year's Varsity team.

With Chris Chevreax leading the defense as a middle linebacker, few points were gained against the J.V. team. Fullback Steven Gauntt was an outstanding runner and led the offense with numerous constant scoring drives. The Junior Varsity team ended their season triumphantly with a final 7-0 win over the Paschal Panthers.

D. Wyatt 14-0. Although their next game was not as successful, Nigh Clary, running back, gained enough yards to bring them to a draw with the Panthers, 14-14.

Varsity Basketball Has Rebuilding Season

The 1983 Yellowjacket Varsity Basketball team had rough going in district competition this year as they did not have a player over six feet one inch tall. Coach Nabors was not disappointed, though.

He said, "I feel as if this has been more of a learning year for us. We have such a young team and we are beginning to play good ball. I can see a successful future with so many talented young athletes."

The team grew closer and started performing better as they defeated Western Hills and Tremble Tech.

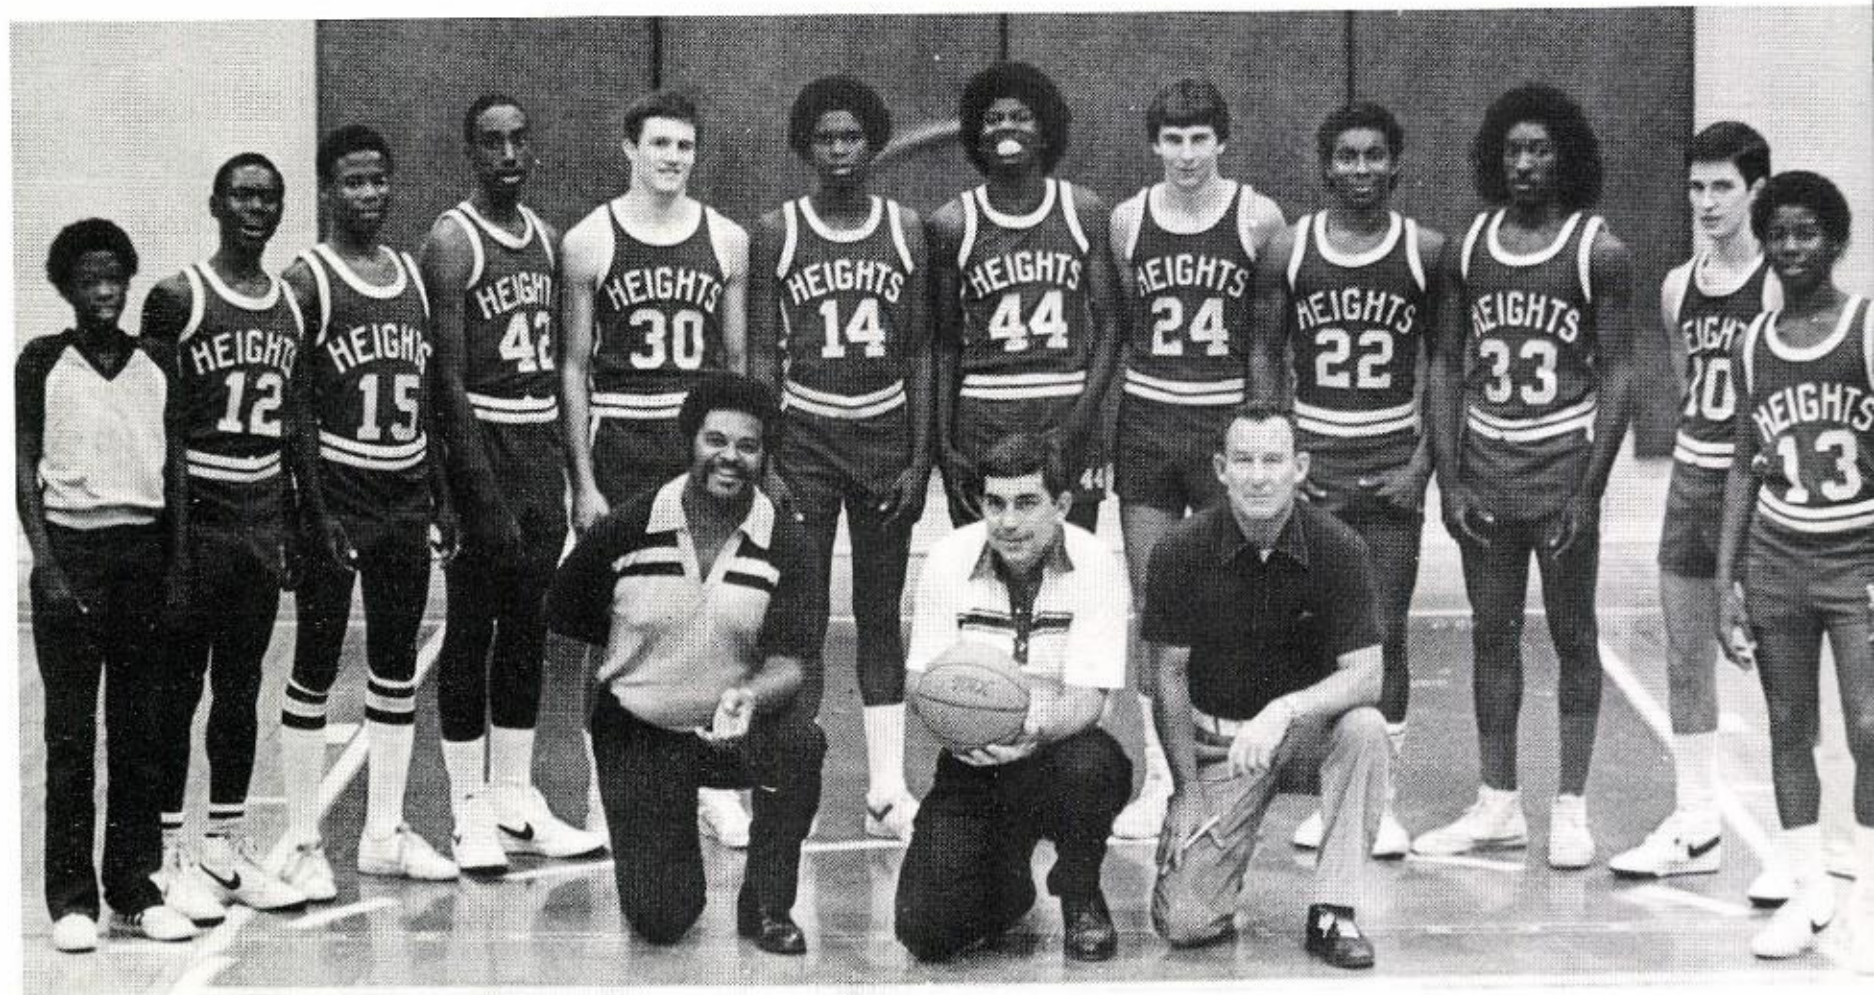

Coach Nabors felt that although it was not a winning year, the team, which was made mostly of inexperienced juniors, should do a whole lot better in next years district play. Returning seniors provided leadership for the younger players and Coach Nabors was proud of the team's season.

Varsity Prepares With Pre-Season Tournament

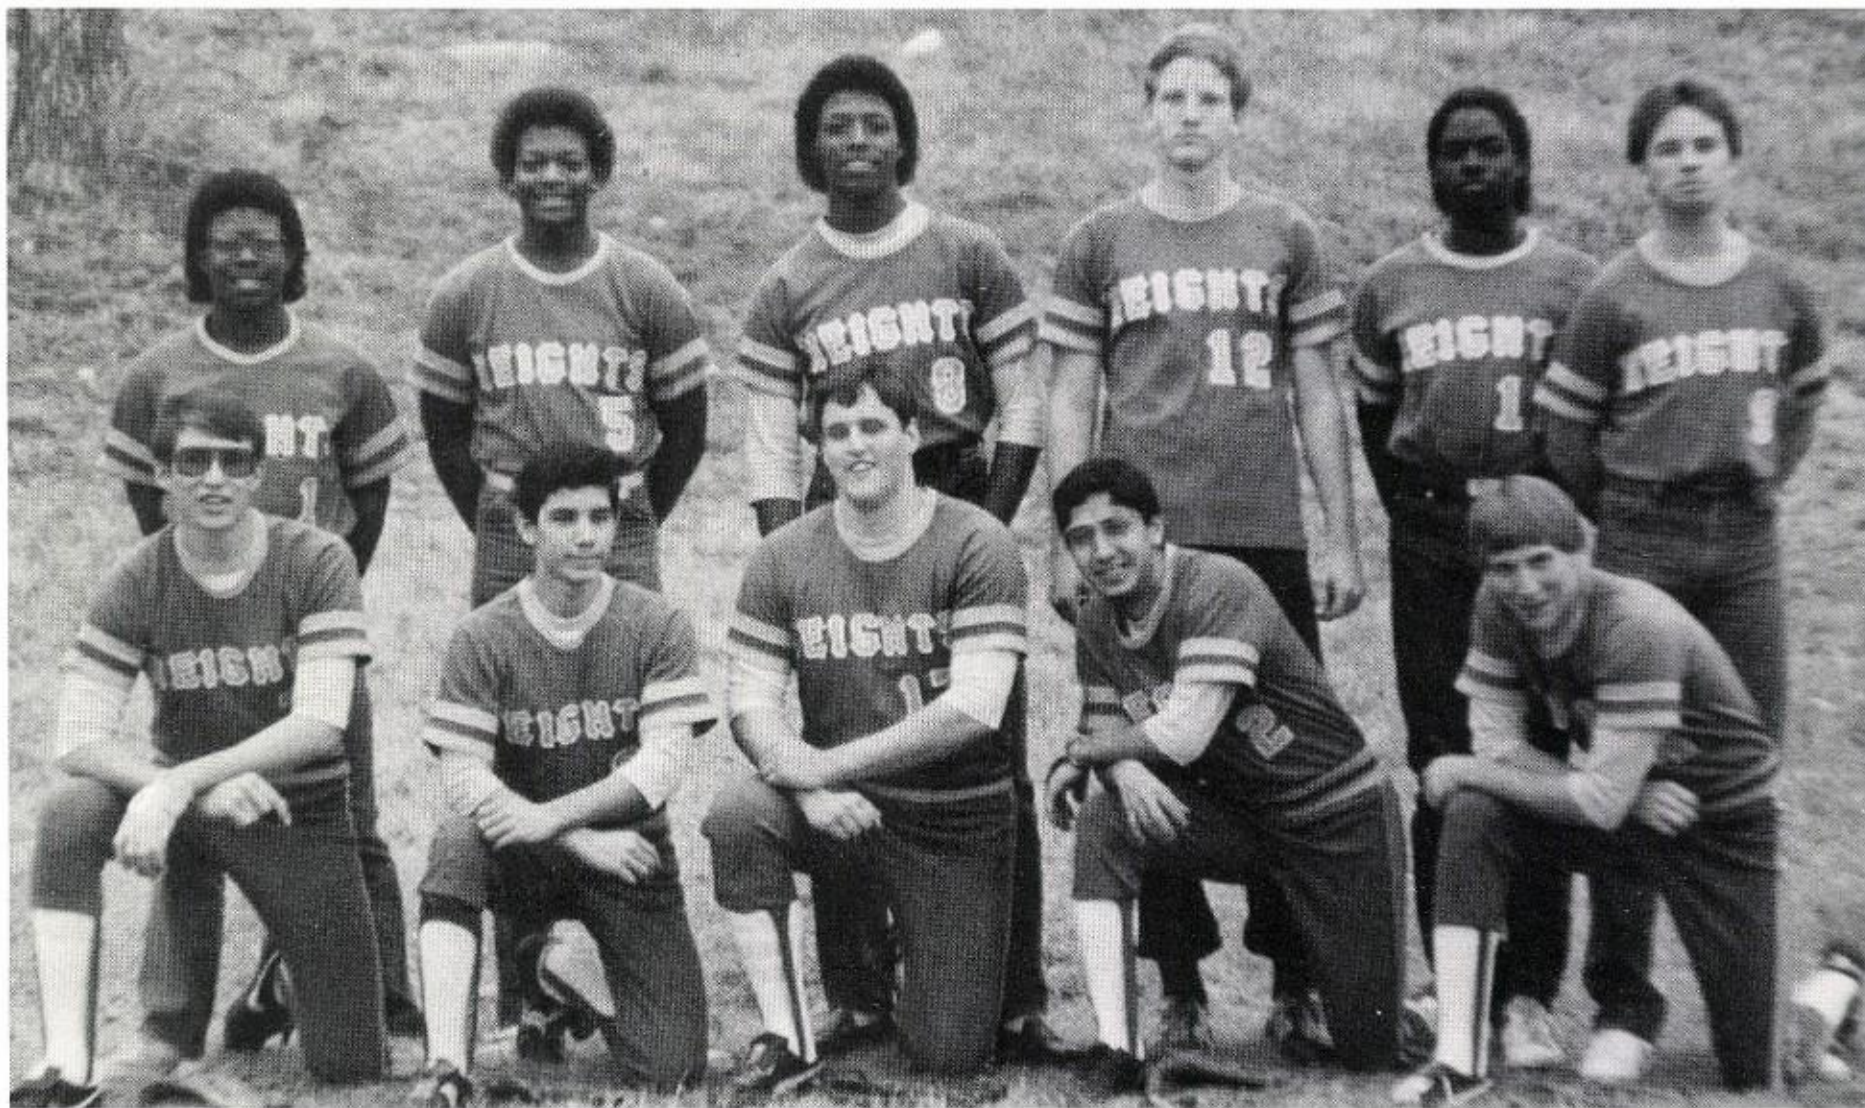

The 1983 Varsity Baseball team, with new first-year coach, Tom Elliot, returned hoping to redeem their domination in the district, taken from them a year ago by Southwest High School.

The team has five returning starters, three seniors, Gary Wells, Rudy Sotelo, and Mark Mauser, and two juniors, Anthony Sotelo, and Alan Houk. The team participated in several scrimmages with various teams. They also had some pre-season games with opponents such as Trinity, Haltom, Duncanville, Irving Nimitz, and Weatherford.

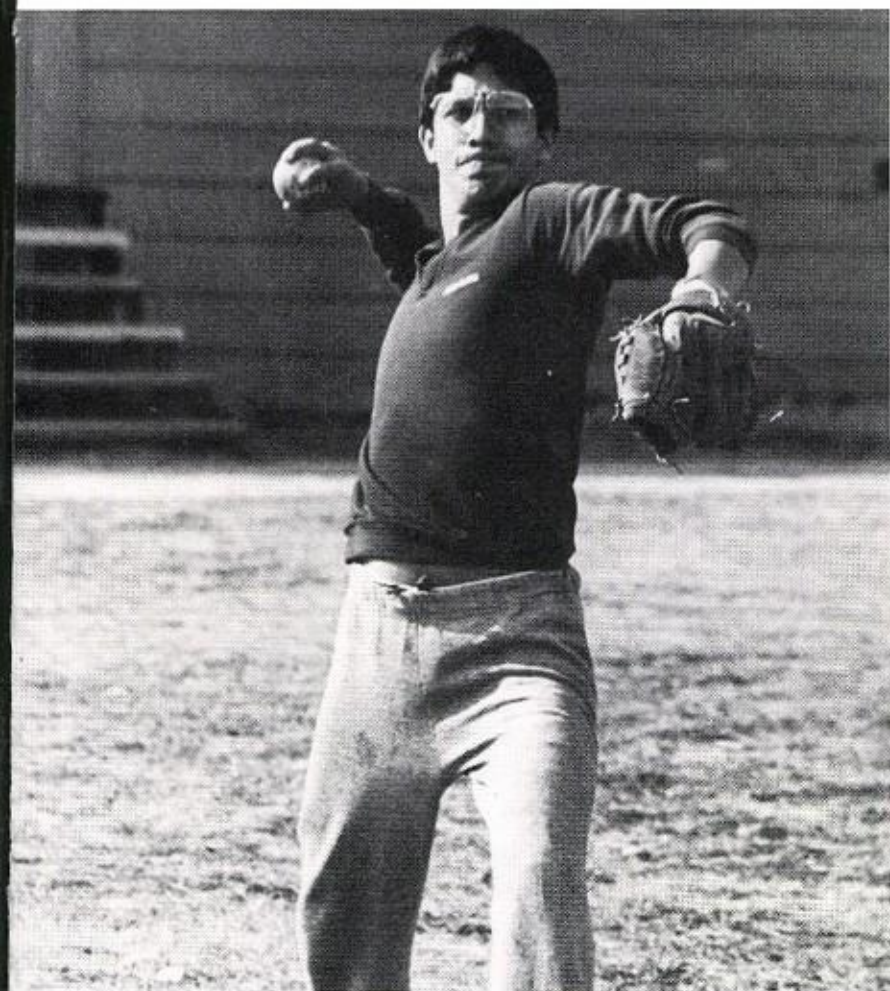

They entered a tournament in Grand Prairie and competed with a number of teams throughout the metroplex area. All this was just warm-up before they caught their arch rival, Southwest, in the first district game.

After winning this competition, the Heights squad participated in the finals held in Dallas.

Under the direction of Coach T.K. Reed, the cheerleaders held daily workouts at 7:30 every morning through first period, and several Sunday afternoon practices were added in preparation for spring competition.

History of Arlington Heights Remembered

As the Fort Worth Independent School District began its second century of operation, Arlington Heights High School looked back upon fifty years of servicing the families in its district.

Citizens of the Heights area voted to establish this district in 1905; the first school was a $22,000 two-story building located on the north side of Camp Bowie Boulevard. It opened in 1909 and served as both a primary and secondary school for students. The population increased and in 1922 the first high school was built at a cost of $100,000. These buildings are now the teacher's center.

In 1922 the City of Fort Worth also annexed the Arlington Heights District. This action was met with little opposition because citizens felt the result would be better schools. Four years later, the District built the W.C. Stripling Junior-Senior High School on Clover Lane. The 7.4 acre site was the second largest in the system at that time. This school is now a middle school.

Plans for a $330,957 senior high school were approved by the Fort Worth School Board on January 25, 1936. Preston Geren was the architect for the new school building which was built by the Works Progress Administration. Formal presentation of the new Arlington Heights Senior High School took place on October 27, 1937. The new building boasted a 1000-seat auditorium with scientifically adjusted acoustics and a special music room built beneath the stage, a gymnasium with folding bleachers, and an air-flow heating system which made it possible to heat any part of the building for special occasions. The visitors were impressed with school's 25 classrooms located on a 32-acre site, which was also utilized for physical education and spacious playing fields on the south and west side of the campus. A bandstand and an amphitheater, seating 3,000, was also a part of the extensive landscaping which also included a large fish pond surrounded by shrubbery and flower gardens located in front of the building.

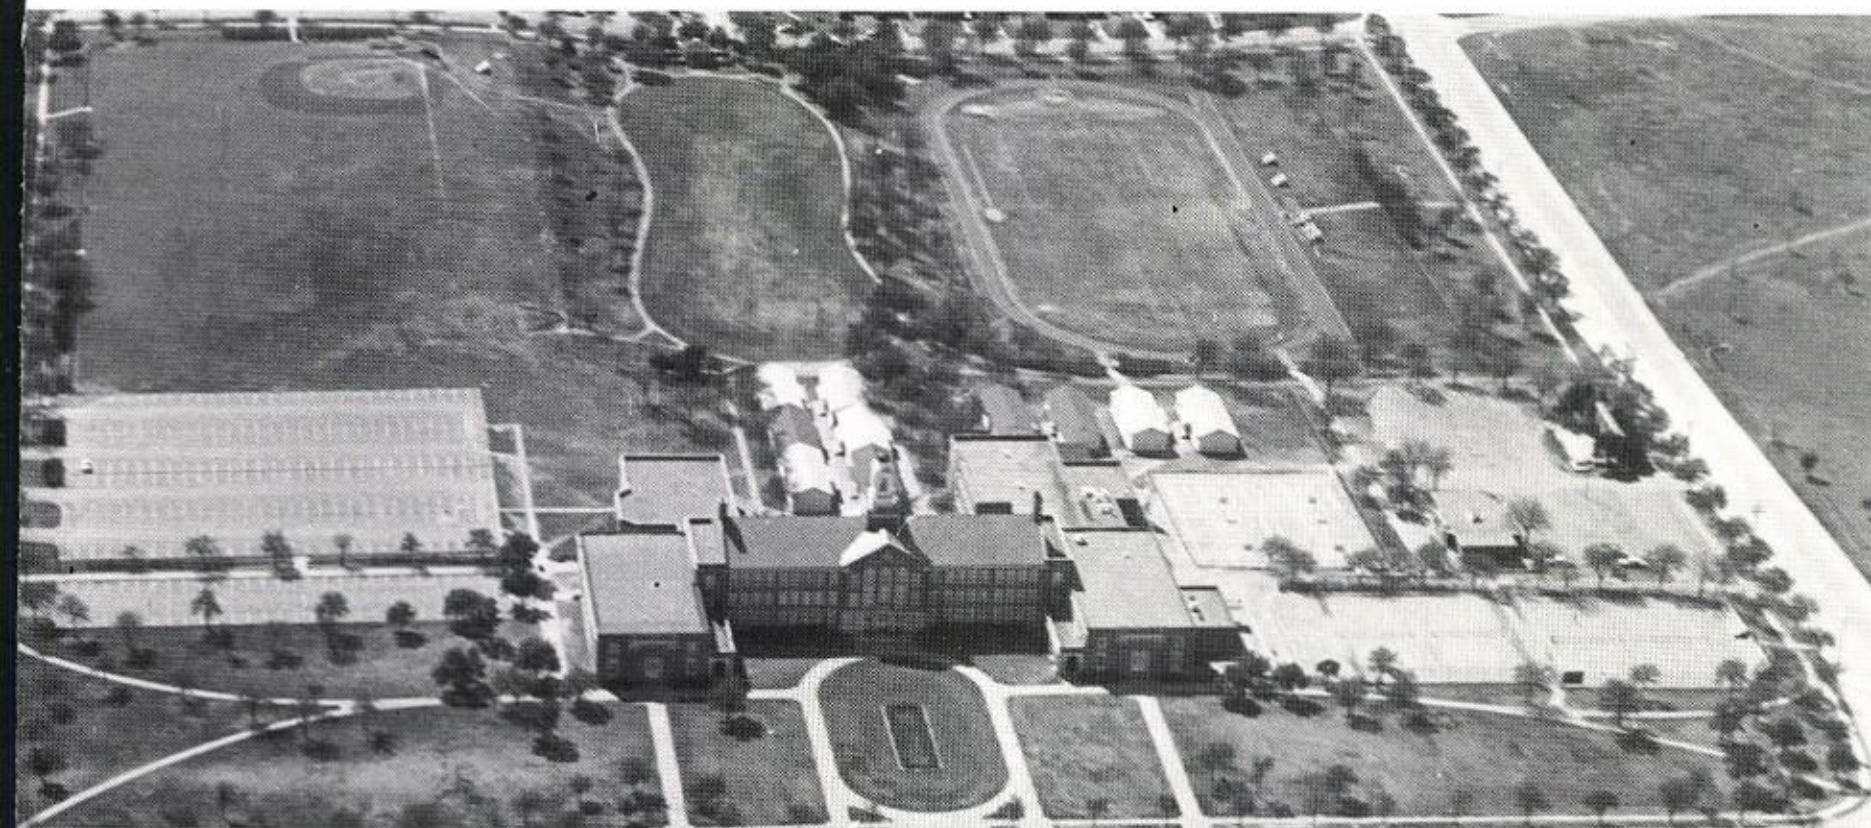

Extensive renovations began in 1979. When the work was completed, Heights had air conditioning, an activities center, and a new two-story building. This building "transformed" the patio into an open air courtyard and became the lab rooms for physical science classes. The building also holds a greatly improved band room and a large library.

Today Arlington Heights has 1550 students. It's alumni include such celebrities as singer John Denver, actress Betty Buckley and the late author Tommy Thompson.

Sixty Feet of the front yard will be taken sometime next year for the widening of the West Freeway.

W. C. Stripling Junior High School, shown above, was once the high school for the Arlington Heights district.

This aerial view shows the Heights campus in 1966. Bordering Hulen street in the west parking lot was a Greek-style amphitheatre.

This picture shows the front yard just after completion. The pile of dirt shows where land was cleared for the trees now in front. The weather vane on the tower had an owl on one end and an eagle on the other. Vandals stole the weather vane around 1964.

Editor's note:

Being editor of any publication regardless of its size, is an awesome responsibility. My sincere thanks go to Mr. Larry Barnes, Yellow Jacket sponsor, for putting me in this position where I have learned much more than just the graphic aspects of yearbooking. I have come a long way in learning to deal with people, and I have gained much insight into all the people and things that compose AHHS.

At this time I also wish to thank the Yellow Jacket staff for their support, hard work, and devotion to a cause. Without their efforts, we could not enjoy this 50th volume Yellow Jacket.
